
SPEECH NOTES FOR INVESTOR PRESENTATION

Ladies and gentlemen, we are ~~at the onset of~~ on the verge of a major innovation in science, health, and the longevity of the human race. Imagine the ability to directly access the area of the enigmatic human brain that governs healing and repair. Then imagine further the possibility in chemically recoding its functionality. When we get a paper cut, our nervous system kicks in to stop the bleeding, fight potential infection, and regenerate the damaged tissue. If our bodies can achieve such a wonder for a small cut, why can't they do the same for a lost limb? For a damaged brain? [P-A-U-S-E]

Truly, the phrase "mind over matter" is appropriately used in this instance. By reprogramming or recoding our brains to function differently, we can, in turn, live differently. And it is all thanks to Extremis.

Extremis is advanced genetic manipulation, the result of our patented serum. The serum essentially inserts itself into the subject's genetic operating system and rewrites the code that has been instilled in our DNA for nearly 200,000 years. [P-A-U-S-E]

With this serum, we have seen dramatic, dare we say extreme, innovation in plant life over the past several years. The results have been exemplary, from rapid healing to even complete regeneration of limbs and leaves. The potential of the nearly finalized serum is untapped, but we will be ready to begin human trials soon.